From the president...

We have been lucky enough to secure Doug Walters for our test match breakfast. Anyone who has heard Doug speak will know of his ability to tell a story and his personable nature will make for a great time.

Peter Gee (ABC) will comper the event that will include a lively panel discussion as well as a memorabilia auction.

This year we have moved to the Shoreline hotel which will allow us to seat more people in comfort. Darren Brown from the Shoreline is a great supporter of the club and will do a fantastic job hosting the breakfast.

Being a supporter of the Clarence Cricket Club gives you first opportunity at a ticket for this great event, but I suggest you purchase a ticket early as this event will sell out, especially being the week before a federal election.

Tickets can be purchased from the club or through Joe Kanizay.

Thank you to everyone who has promptly paid their club membership.

Access to the clubrooms will be reserved to financial members and sponsors during the November test match. I hope to see you there.

We have had a fantastic response to our hospitality packages. We still have some places available for the Twenty/20s at very reasonable prices. See our web site for full details.
